RUSH TROOPS TO REINFORCE BORDER

STATE SOLDIERS WILL BE SENT SOUTH AT EARLIEST MOMENT

Red Tape Cast Aside by Government —Congress Takes Vigorous Action—Diplomatic Aspect of Crisis Unchanged—More Aeroplanes are Purchased.

WASHINGTON, June 23—National Guard organizations thruout the country were straining every nerve tonight to prepare for active service on the Mexican border. New orders flashed over the wires by Secretary Baker bore a call for haste. Red tape was cast aside and authorization given under which the state soldiers will be rushed to reinforce the border guards at the earliest possible moment. The entire army of 100,000 men summoned by President Wilson's call was placed directly at General Funston's disposal.

Facilitates Troop Movement.

Congress took vigorous and far-reaching action. A resolution adopted in the house by a vote of 322 to 2 declares that an emergency calling for the use of troops in addition to regulars now exists and authorizes the president to draft immediately into the service of the United States all members of the National Guard who subscribe to the new oath for that service. In effect the measure gives legislative approval of President Wilson's call on state troops, and provides for their use in or out of the United States. It also furnishes new machinery with which to hasten the strengthening of the border guard. The senate probably will pass the resolution tomorrow.

Diplomatic Aspects Unchanged

Diplomatic aspects of the crisis virtually were unchanged. President Wilson could reach no final decision as to action resulting from the attack by Mexican troops upon American cavalryman at Carrizal or upon American bluejackets at Mazatlan. Only a preliminary and inclusive report on the Carrizal clash came from General Pershing during the day. It was based on the statements of stragglers and no word had come from the officers of the shattered detachment.

The statement follows:

"The war department has received from General Funston the following transmitted from General Pershing:

" 'Personally questioning troopers with reference to the Ahumada affair. Two troops, Tenth Cavalry, Boyd's troop C., and Morey's "K" joined on the night of the twentieth at Ojo Santo Domingo, marched to within one mile of Carrizal on the 21st., Captain Boyd in command arriving there at 7:30 a. m. Boyd sent in a Mexican guide to ask permission to pass thru the town. Mexican guide returned with refusal from General Gomez. Then Gomez sent out note by orderly saying that Boyd might pass thru the town, provided he stopped for a conference.

" 'Then General Gomez himself came out and discussed the situation fifteen or twenty minutes with Boyd. Meantime Mexican troops moving out from the town began surrounding Boyd's column. Gomez retired and when he reached the right of his troops Mexican troops began firing machine guns. Boyd dismounted to fight on foot."

"General Pershing also reports that he has sent out cavalry to support and bring back the two troops in question. As yet, however, has had no opportunity to confer with any officers or either of the troops and that, if any misunderstanding led to the attack, it is impossible to judge from the evidences at hand."

Must Await Full Reports.

The last word on the Mazatlan incident will follow a full report from Admiral Winslow, commanding the Pacific fleet who has been ordered to the scene. As the situation stands at the state department only preliminary reports on each incident have been received. When the record is complete in the war and navy departments, formal accounts will be submitted to Secretary Lansing and the action of the United States will then be determined.

Must be Held Responsible.

Evidence now in hand is believed to be sufficient to show that Carranza sympathizers or officials probably will be held responsible in both cases. Indications are that the Washington government will stand on the reports of its own officers and refute the assertions of the Mexican government, officially presented here, that Americans were the aggressors and that irresponsible individuals precipitated the clash. It was thought probable tonight that the president would demand that Carranza repudiate the acts and punish those responsible.

Up to General Funston.

Arrangements for the despatch of National Guard organizations to the border will be made between General Funston and the commanders of the various departments without reference to Washington.

Secretary Baker announced the order in the following statement:

"It is the intention of the department to send all of the state militia which has been called out to the border as soon as it is ready and fit to go. This is to say, as soon after it has been assembled at the various state mobilization camps and be inspected, equipped, mustered into service and otherwise prepared for despatch. The militia so sent will be distributed by General Funston along the border."

The resolution adopted in the house will facilitate this movement. It authorizes the consolidation of incomplete units of the guard so that they can be sent forward without waiting to be recruited up to the required strength.

Fourteen Aeroplanes Bought.

At the war department orders were given today for the purchase of 14 additional aeroplanes for border use. They will be of the high power type recently sent to the border. General Funston now has 12 of these craft at Columbus. Great trouble has been experienced with the propellers. The problem is to find a propeller which will stand the enormous power of the engines.

BATTLE PRACTICE EXCITES NUMBER OF CITIZENS

Parade of Troops is Merely Precautionary and Unexpected by the Troops—Enlisted Man in Battery A. Killed by Fall from Caisson.

EL PASO, Texas, June 23.—Battle practice by the brigade of American troops here threw citizens of El Paso and Juarez, already perturbed, into great excitement late today.

Cavalry, infantry and artillery from Fort Bliss took part in maneuvers and a number of motor trucks were commandeered. As the troops in heavy marching order swung thru the streets rumors spread that they were on their way to occupy Juarez.

Citizens with field glasses blackened house tops while hundreds of persons in motor cars and afoot, went to the international bridges "to watch the troops cross."

None Cross Frontier.

It was also rumored that troops already had crossed at Ysleta, Tex., twelve miles east and at other border points.

However, none crossed the frontier. The largest body was deployed along the river front, immediately south of El Paso went thru a field maneuver and then returned to Fort Bliss. General George Bell, Jr., commanding the El Paso military district, said that the parade was merely precautionary practice and unexpected by the troops.

Watch Americans.

Detachments of Mexican cavalry watched the Americans from the opposite bank. The Mexicans appeared calm, but in Juarez the wildest excitement prevailed. The remnant of the garrison was thrown out for outpost duty and most of the citizens remaining in the town gathered in the plaza.

Expected Night Attack.

Andres Garcia, Mexican consul at El Paso who has been spending his time in the Mexican town, said over the telephone that military officials in Juarez generally believed that General Bell was preparing to make a night attack on the Mexican town.

"If they do attack, we are ready for them," he said. But declined to explain his remark further.

During the maneuver, W. J. Scanlon, an enlisted man of Battery A., fifth field artillery fell from a caisson and was killed.

Street Car Traffic Interrupted.

Street car traffic to Juarez was interrupted shortly after dark tonight, passengers on the last car bringing reports that small arms and ammunition were being issued to civilians in the town. After the earlier excitement however, both cities settled into a calm which contrasted somewhat with the agitation of the last few nights.

BOTH TROOPS OF TENTH WIPED OUT

BUT SEVEN SURVIVORS OF CARRIZAL FIGHT HAVE REACHED MAIN COLUMN

Mexicans Make Charge from Flank at End of Parley and Also Open Fire from the Front with Machine Gun—But Few Men are Accounted For.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 23—The two troops of the Tenth Cavalry under Captain Charles T. Boyd practically were wiped out by the attack of Mexican forces under General Gomez at Carrizal June 21st, according to indications given in a fragmentary report received by General Funston from General Pershing tonight.

But Seven Have Arrived

General Pershing's message stated that seven survivors in all including those who arrived last night have reached the main column. All were enlisted men but the report did not say whteher there were non-commissioned officers among them.

Are Practically Surrounded

According to the stories of the survivors as outlined in General Pershing's report, a mounted force of Mexicans made a charge from the flank at the conclusion of a parley between Captain Boyd and General Gomez at the same time that a machine gun opened fire from the front as General Gomez reached his lines.

Combined Fire Stampedes Horses

Captain Boyd had ordered his men to dismount as the machine gun opened fire and the combined effect of the Mexican fire, the machine gun fire and the rifle fire from the Mexican garrison of Carrizal which had almost surrounded the little American force under cover of the parley sought by General Gomez to discuss whether Captain Boyd should be allowed to pass thru the town, stampeded the horses. No details were made known to General Pershing as to whether the Mexican charge was checked.

Seals Fate of Detachment

With their mounts gone, caught without means of escape, ringed about on three sides with the fire of an overwhelming force, the fate of the little detachment is believed by officers here to have been sealed. It is fared that only the most stupendous luck, backed by desperate valor, could have extricated Captain Boyd's men from the trap.

The reports from Mexican forces placed the number killed, including two officers at from 12 to 40. It is reported 17 were taken captive into Chihuahua City.

But Few Are Accounted For

The accepted percentage of wounded to those killed in modern warfare would place the wounded at from 35 to 40 at the lowest estimate. The strength of the two troops, C. and K., is not known here but it is estimated that they could not exceed 130 men, allowing for those sick and on detached service. With but seven survivors reported as arriving at the main column the number of those accounted for at least speculatively is pitifully small. The report from General Pershing stated that the stories of the survivors were confused and did not conform in all details with the report made by the first arrivals from the battlefield.

Scene of Wild Confusion

General Pershing reported that there was a scene of wild confusion when the Mexicans opened fire and their cavalry charged. The stragglers apparently were cut off in an effort of Captain Boyd to extricate his men from the trap which was closing on his command, or fled before the outcome of the battle could be learned.

No Word From Rescuers

General Pershing according to his report, has received no word from the two battalions of the eleventh cavalry which he had sent to rescue the remnants of Captain Boyd's expedition. He stated that he had taken no measures to support the squadrons of the eleventh.

General Funston said tonight that he had received no confirmation of rumors of reported bandit raids near Hachita, N. M., and Brownsville.

Morey Dead or Prisoner

Field Headquarters, Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, June 23—Via Wireless to Columbus, N. M.—That Captain Morey is either dead or a prisoner was the assumption reached here tonight when no reports had been received from any of the three officers who accompanied the troops of the Tenth Cavalry engaged at Carrizal on Wednesday. Mexican reports said that Captain Charles T. Boyd and Lieutenant Henry Adair were among the dead. Altho sixty hours have elapsed since the fight the only word of it has been brought to General Pershing by nine enlisted men, who straggled into camp yesterday. These men all insisted that General Felix Gomez, the Mexican commander and Captain Boyd parleyed, apparently reaching an amicable conclusion and that immediately afterward the Americans were led into a trap, from which the Mexicans opened fire upon them with concealed machine guns.

None of the stragglers reaching here were able to give any information as to the fate of the remnant of the 85 men composing the command.

Military authorities in El Paso last night generally reached the conclusion that the officer referred to as "Captain Moore" and reported to have been wounded in the shoulder

CONGRESS APPROVES WILSON'S USE OF THE NATIONAL GUARD

Adopt Resolution Appropriating One Million Dollars to Aid Dependent Families of Guardsmen—Senate Will Vote on Measure Today.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Legislative approval of President Wilson's use of the national guard in the Mexican crisis was voted almost unanimously by the house today in adopting a resolution declaring the existence of an emergency and giving the president a free hand to draft as federal soldiers all guardsmen willing to take the required oath. The senate is expected to concur tomorrow.

A milion dollars would be appropriated by the resolution to aid dependent families of the guardsmen so drafted. Distribution of the fund will be left to the war department with the restriction that no family should recieve more than $50 a month. Only two representatives a Socialist, London of New York and a Democrat, Huddlestone of Alabama voted aginst the resolution.

During the debate several Republicans attacked the administration's Mexican policy and insisted that President Wilson should have informed congress of the emergency instead of expecting it to act on its own initiative. No one attempted to deny however, that an emergency had arisen and Republican Leader Mann, Former Speaker Cannon and others declared that in reality a state of war existed.

SEE GERMAN INFLUENCE.

Brazilian Newspapers Devote Much Space to U. S.-Mexican Crisis.

Rio Janeiro, June 23.—The United States-Mexico crisis occupies a large space in the Brazil newspapers. The general tone of the editorial comment is that President Wilson has run afoul of prependering elements in Mexico which are under German influence.

In official circles hope is expressed that war will be avoided. There is a general agreement that some end must be put to the situation so that pacific developments of the peoples of America may be assured.

Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazil minister of foreign affairs, selected as chief arbitrator, should difficulties between Portugal and the United States arise, will sail for the United States tomorrow on the steamer St. Paul.

ORPET DEFENSE TO OPEN CASE TODAY

JUDGE DONNELLY WILL DENY MOTION TO DISMISS CHARGE

Testimony of Witnesses for Prosecution is Concluded at Forenoon Session—Remainder of Love Letters Read—Mayor Lewis State's Final Witness.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 23.—The state having rested its case the defense tomorrow will move that Judge Donnelly take the case of William H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, from the jury and discharge the defendant on the routine grounds that the state has not established a case.

The motion will be overruled, and the defense will proceed with its side of the case.

That Judge Donnelly will deny the motion was made plain this afternoon when the court overruled a series of motions made by James H. Wilkerson, chief of counsel for Orpet to strike from the record vital portions of the testimony of state's witnesses.

What State Has Failed to Show.

In asking the court to take the case from the jury Mr. Wilkerson will assert that the state has failed to show that Orpet purchased any poison; that there is no evidence to show that he had any poison, that there is nothing to show that the cyanide of potassium found in Marion's stomach was the same as that which reposed in the greenhouse of which Orpet's father had charge, and that no evidence has been produced to show that the poison stains on Marion's coat were made by liquid cyanide.

State Concludes Testimony.

Presentation of the testimony of witnesses for the prosecution was concluded at the forenoon session. It produced two items of importance. One was a letter written by Marion the day before her death to Miss E. E. Ramsey her Sunday school teacher, in which Marion said that her giggles often concealed real unhappiness. The other was the testimony of Mayor Lewis, of Lake Forest, the home of Orpet and Marion, to the effect that Orpet told him after his arrest that Marion had threatened to commit suicide because of her alleged delicate condition and that this was the reason for his visit to Lake Forest from Madison, Wis., where he was attending the University of Wisconsin.

Resume Reading of Letters.

Prior to the state resting in the case, David R. Joslyn, of counsel for the prosecution, resumed reading of Orpet's letters to Marion.

"Keep yourself for me, alone," he wrote on May 26, 1915. Next day he complained the only way he could get thru his classes was by "thinking ther ewould be a letter from you today, but there was none."

This letter, like the others, was written from Madison, Wis., where Orpet was attending the University of Wisconsin.

On the 28th, he acknowledged receipt of a letter from Marion. "I couldn't tell from your letter whether you are for me or not. What have I done, or failed to do?" he asked. "Don't write that way for I can only suffer till another. If you love me, loosen up. Make it a good one."

On June 2, he expressed happiness at a "good" letter from Marion. "Only about ten days and I shall see you and kiss you very much. I am glad you are still good. Keep it up and when I get home we will take the lid off."

Ardor Cools After Vacation.

By November 3, after the summer vacation, Orpet addressed her merely as "Dear Marion."

In this and subsequent letters, he has stopped pleading with Marion for warmer expressions of her regard. He expressed the wish to see her but repeated his conviction that it didn't mean much to her.

Late in November, he wrote that he hoped she "got the stuff" all right. On December 7 he wrote:

"Letter received this morning and was surprised to hear that there was nothing doing yet. Don't see the doctor until I have given you something to take."

Writes to "Jo" Davis.

He wrote to Josephine Davis Jan. 21: "I don't know what o think of Marion being so sick. Write and tell me everything."

Next day, he sent a letter to Marion, care of Josephine. "Joe has told me you have been pretty sick. Will try to go down to see you Feb. 3. Will call you up Feb. 9th evening. Remember If all is not all right, it will be when I see you. Don't tell any one about the 8th."

The next letter was one of the so-called alibi letters, post-dated Feb. 9 at Madison and mailed, it is alleged, by a friend while Orpet was at Lake Forest.

AGAINST PINCH-HITTERS.

Chicago, June 23—B. B. Johnson, president of the American League in the statement made public today declared he favored baseball legislation to curb the pinch-hitter habit.

Also Mr. Johnson thinks that the managers by constantly shifting pitchers not only injuring the pitchers by "making a joke out of them," but are reducing interest of the fans.

NATIONAL GUARD NOT UP TO ARMY STANDARD

Will Not Be Ready For Border Service Within Less Than Ten Days

Machine Guns, Horses, Uniforms, Rifles, Ammunition and Other Equipment, Must be Provided to Amount Required at War Strength

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 23.—No unit of the Illinois National Guard will be ready to go to the Mexican border for actual war service within less than ten days if the regular army standard of preparedness is applied to the state troops, but if a sudden imperative need for more American troops arises on the border, the 6,000 soldiers now here and the 4,000 due here tomorrow from downstate points will be ready to entrain on a few hours notice.

Summed up By Army Officers.

That is how the situation here was summed up tonight by the highest state and federal army officers present after a thoro inspection of Camp Dunne where the infantry and hospital companies are quartered and Camp Lincoln where the cavalry, artillery, engineers and signal corps are stationed.

Must Have War Strength Equipment

Before they are fitted for field service in the war department's definition of the word "fitted" the First Cavalry must be equipped with horses, the machine gun platoon of the First Infantry must be equipped with machine guns, and the other infantry companies must be supplied with uniforms, rifles, ammunition and other equipment to the amount required at war strength.

Make Final Inspection.

Horses for the Illinois troops are now being purchased by the federal government, principally at Kansas City, equipment for the infantry is being rushed from the government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., and the machine guns are being dug up somewhere. But it will be at least ten days before the troops here are supplied with all these things and are mustered into the federal army. The mobilization of Illinois' troops will be completed tomorrow by the arrival of the eighth regiment (negro) from Chicago and of the third and fourth regiments from various downstate points. Just before sundown today, Governor Dunne and Adjutant General Dickson made a final inspection of the laterns the construction of which caused the delay in the mobilization of the third, fourth and eighth regiments and both officials were satisfied with their condition.

Investigate Family Historys.

"As a final precaution against the cropping out of any disease in camp," said Governor Dunne tonight, "we are investigating the home surroundings and family history of every man who has enlisted within the last thirty days and when ever we find the trace of any contagious disease in the family of a recruit, he is discharged."

Appeal for Husbands' Discharge.

Not one man in the ten or twelve thousand enlisted in the state militia, the governor said, has asked his release since the mobilization. Approximately thirty women, however, have appealed to the governor for the discharge of their husbands. The pleas of five where extreme destitution was shown already have been granted.

Three More Regiments Entrain

Chicago, June 23—Three more regiments of the Illinois National guard—the eighth, third and fourth—boarded trains for Springfield tonight for the mobilization camp. The eighth regiment composed of negroes, was strongly recruited in Chicago before departure, and will be augmented by a company from Bloomington and another from Quincy. Colonel Denison of the any other of the six Illinois regiment would total 1,242 men, including 466 recruits. The negroes have been enthusiastic for service. The eighth will have more men than any othor of the six Illinois regiments ordered to mobilize. The other regiments, the third and fourth, were made up at various points downstate. In each of the cities from which the troops departed their leaving was accompanied by demonstrations on the part of residents.

Many Regular Army Recruits

Two hundred and two recruits had been accepted at 7 o'clock tonight as the result of the day's examination of applicants at the various national guard infantry, artillery and cavalry armories. It was expected this number would be materially increased before closing time tonight as the heaviest enlistments are made at that time. The nine regular army recruiting offices also reported activity in enlistments, altho figures were withheld.

Will Be Sent to Springfield

As rapidly as recruits join the artillery companies they are given transportation to Springfield to join the batteries to which they are assigned. Those assigned to the infantry and the cavalry are quartered at the armories and they will be sent in a body to the encampment.

36 Accepted Out of 174 Applicants

The 202 men accepted today were only one third of the number making application. The rejections were chiefly because of inability to pass the physical test and some because they were under the age limit. At the second regiment armory out of 174 applicants only 36 were accepted.

GERMANS CAPTURE FRENCH POSITIONS

GAIN ANOTHER STEP IN PROGRESS TOWARD CITY OF VERDUN

Teutons Take French First Line Trenches Between Hills 321 and 322—Also Hold Back Advance of Russian Forces—French Fliers Bomb German Stations.

The Germans have raised another step in their progress toward Verdun by capturing French positions northwest of that fortress. Fighting along a front of more than three miles on the right bank of the Meuse, the German forces, following the usual artillery bombardment and in the face of violent fire from French guns, carried French first line trenches between Hills 321 and 320 and also the Thiaumont fort. At the same time the Germans have held back the advance of the Russian forrest from Dvinsk to the Galician border.

Fierce Fighting Marks Advance.

Fierce fighting marked the advance toward Verdun, Paris declares in admitting the loss of the trenches and the Thiaumont works. Further along the fighting line the Germans reached, Fleury, about 3 1-2 miles northeast of Verdun, but Paris says they were repulsed there by a violent counter-attack. Paris states the attacks on the woods of Vaux, Chapitre, Fumien and Chenoise and on the Damloup battery were broken and repulsed.

Bombard French Positions.

South of the Damloup battery in the sector of Moulainville and on the left bank of the Meuse in the region of Hill 304 and LeMort Homme the French positions are being heavily bombarded by the German guns.

Russians Still Advancing.

The Russians have advanced further into Bukowina in pursuit of General Pflanzer's forces but farther north in East Galicia and Volhynia their progress apparently has been arrested by the violent attacks and counter-attacks of the Teutonic allies.

Advances for the German and Austrian forces west and southwest of Lutsk in Volhynia and the repulse of Russian counter-attacks on the Stokhod and Styr rivers in the same region along the Galician frontier in the vicinity of Brody are chronicled in the Berlin and Vienna communications.

French Aeroplanes Are Busy.

French aeroplanes have bombed German stations and cantonments in the Verdun region and Austrian seaplanes have attacked Venice, dropping bombs on Forts Niclo and Alberoni, the gas works and the arsenal.

Claims Russian Advance Checked

In Mesopotamia Constantinople claims to have checked the Russian advance toward the new Mesopotamia Plains and to have driven the Russians out of Patitak Pass on the Persian frontier thru which they attempted to enter Mesopotamia.

NO BULL MOOSE TICKET.

Progressives Decide Not to Place State or National Ticket in Field.

Chicago, Ill., June 23.—The Progressive state committee at a meeting here today refused to endorse any national or state ticket and decided to maintain the state organization in some form to be decided upon later by the executive committee. There will be no progressive state ticket placed in the field this year unless the national committee of the party at its meeting next Monday decides to put up a national ticket.

The sentiment of the committee was that the Progressives should continue its identity as a league or other organization if not as a political party so as to be in a position to endorse candidates for office.

A Sign of the Times.

Four of the Protestant churches of Carrollton have entered into a sensible arrangement to hold union evening services during the summer months. According to the plan the services will be held in a theater building and will be of a popular kind, with the idea of attracting an audience of people usually classed as non-church goers. The average church has such difficulty in securing Sunday evening audiences, especially in the summer time, that the plan strikes one as one dictated by common sense and it also indicates the growing sentiment of abolishing the mere denominational lines in the common effort to do good.

The Bronze Button.

"I would give $10,000 to be able to wear one of those bronze buttons," said a well known Jacksonville citizen yesterday. He had just met a veteran of the war of the Rebellion with a bronze button in the lapel of his coat, and this was the occasion for the remark. It is in such times as these, when there is trouble brewing for the country, that people give special thought to the meaning of the G. A. R. button.

Generally speaking, the people appreciate the debt they owe to the old soldier, but when dangers threaten naturally the thoughts turn back to other days and a keener appreciation of the service rendered by the veterans of '62 to '65 comes. That debt can never fully be paid and the citizen who said yesterday that he would give $10,000 to be entitled to wear the bronze badge of honor voiced the sentiment of a great many of his fellow citizens.

Dr. James Will Not Run.

Dr. Edmund James, president of the University of Illinois, has wisely decided not to enter the contest for the Republican nomination for the governorship of Illinois. Dr. James assigns as one of his particular reasons the desire to avoid any possibility of getting the state university into politics, and the further reason that he believes, judging from the action of the trustees oft he university, that his work there has not been completed. The only reason President James says that he would seek the governorship would be with a desire to serve the state.

This is a high and right ideal, but Dr. James is correct in the probable assumption that just at the present time no particular sacrifice on his part in order to become governor is necessary. There seem to be a number of other candidates who are willing to fill the post.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

NO CHANCE

The man who never had a chance, the victim of fell circumstance, who ne'er was Johnnie-on-the-spot—how sad and pitiful his lot! He had two hands, as good as those of t'other chap, who bravely rose, to affluence and high renown, and was a credit to the town. He had two legs, without a flaw; two smoother legs I never saw, and had he used them wisely well, they might have made him — who can tell? He had two eyes, two ears, a nose, the usual array of toes, a dome on which to wear his hats, a liver and a set of slats, and whiskers till he couldn't rest; the whole equipment he possessed, by which the human tribes advance, and yet, he says, he had no chance. The wolf was always at his door; he had no tick at any store, his wife did washing every day, to buy the hungry children hay. He had a wishbone and a lung, a solar plexus and a tongue, he had two kidneys and a wart, and vital organs by the quart; and yet he raised the same old whine—because he hadn't any spine.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

June 24, 1778—George Rogers Clark and his company of one hundred seventy-five men set out from the fort at the falls of the Ohio river for their attack on Kaskaskia.

Labor's Message to Mexico

The American Federation of Labor is a powerful organization and Samuel Gompers, its president, is a man of great influence. However, no special feeling of security comes because of the statement that Mr. Gompers telegraphed labor leaders in Mexico, assuring them that American labor will do all possible to avoid a break between the two countries. In Mexico where disorder prevails, where anarchy and treachery are rampant, with social and industrial conditions on entirely different levels from those which exist in this country, the influence of organized labor upon the war situation will be only negligible.

Teaching Economy

Over in London they are planning for a national economy exhibit to teach the women of England new ways to economize. The exhibit has been planned under the direction of the national war savings committee. There are to be lectures in many lines by experts and there will be lessons in buying and in the cooking of cereals and vegetables that can well take the place of meat. There will be illustrations, too, of how to save fuel, and in other ways cut down home expenses.

As "necessity is the mother of invention," it is no doubt the same sort of rule applies to economy, and from a far away view point it doesn't seem necessary to have a school to teach the women of England at this time how to save. From all accounts thousands upon thousands of them have suffered such hardships during the war and have had so many new duties thrust upon them as breadwinners that they have probably learned more in the school of experience in the months past than would come to them in years of training of the kind proposed.

But the story is nonetheless interesting, indicating as it does the need that is felt in the great and wealthy country of England to especially conserve the resources at this time and to teach the people economy and frugality.

It's Not Too Late To Begin

Mention has been made from time to time in the Journal of the great desirability of dragging the roads in the immediate vicinity of Jacksonville. This has been emphasized because the roads in the territory adjacent to the city limits are not kept in as good condition as roads further out, and therefore, when autoists come to Jacksonville they often find stretches of rough roads just before they get within the city limits, whereas conditions further out have been satisfactory. This has been suggested often as a practical work for the Chamber of Commerce if it cannot be accomplished in any other way. The people of Springfield realize the advantage of such a plan and a special committee has been formed there and provided with authority and funds for the very commendable work. Contracts will be awarded and the main roads leading to Springfield will be kept in good condition during the summer months just as a plain business proposition. The roads to be dragged are known as the Cantrail, Sherman, Clear Lake, Rochester, Chatham, Jacksonville and Beardstown.

It isn't too late to begin some such movement here in Jacksonville.

Would Camp Here on Historic Ground.

The suggestion made to Governor Dunne by the officers of Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce that the old fair grounds site and the grounds of the State School for the Deaf form a suitable place for troop mobilization, has much to recommend it. Clear evidence has been given that the facilities are not equal to the demand in Springfield and by the use of state property here at least two regiments could be readily cared for. The troops would be as readily available for service as those in Springfield and could entrain at the same time and reach the mobilization point in the sonth just as if the start was made at the state capital. Since General Grant camped at the fair grounds in the early days of the war of the Rebellion, a camp established there now would be upon historic ground, and that very fact would lend inspiration to the recruits of the present day, and certainly the historical fact mentioned makes the suggested camp plan eminently appropriate. The Chamber of Commerce letter is to be transmitted to Governor Dunne by Judge Owen P. Thompson, and the people of Jacksonville are earnestly hoping for favorable action.

MILITARY SERVICE AND INSURANCE

The possibility of active army service has aroused a new interest in insurance policy provisions. There are a number of companies whose policies are not affected by military service of the insured. Some other companies that have provisions against military service have made announcement that they will waive these claims by the payment of a slight additional premium. It is worthy of comment that fully ninety per cent at least of the old line insurance companies have no war restrictions and their officers seem to feel their obligation to protect the families of the men who protect their country. In times past an insurance agent who has pointed out that the policy he seeks to sell makes no restriction against war service has had little attention paid to this feature, but now the war clause is picked out as one of the most essential things in determining the value of an insurance policy.

SUPREME COURT DEFINES COUNCIL RIGHTS IN LIQUOR CASES

Unanimous Opinion Filed Shows Jacksonville Anti-Shipping Ordinance Invalid.

As mentioned in the Journal yesterday, the supreme court has upheld the opinion of Judge Jones in the circuit court wherein he declared the anti-shipping ordinance passed by the city council of Jacksonville unconstitutional. The opinion, which all the members of the court confirmed, was delivered by Justice Dunne. The history of the case and appeal are related and the court goes on to say, 'Intoxicating liquor is recognized as property which may be the subject of ownership in this state and the legislature has not authorized its destruction by municipalities by means of ordinances which prohibit the lawful use and possession of it. The act providing for the creating of anti-saloon territory has not changed this rule or increased the powers of city councils or village boards of trustees in this respect. On the contrary, the act especially recognizes the right of property in intoxicating liquors. It makes its sale unlawful in territory which by a vote of the people has been made anti-saloon territory, but even in such territory intoxicating liquor may still under certain conditions be manufactured, owned, used and sold.

Law Is Against Liquor Traffic.

"There is no statute in this state prohibitng the manufacture or the transportation of intoxicating liquor at or to any place, any time, by any person or for any purpose. There is no statute which prohibits the drinking of intoxicating liquor, tho the time, place and circumstances of such drinking may and have been regulated by law. The legislation of this state on the subject of istoxicating liquors has been directed not against the individual use of such liquors but against the traffic in them and the use of them in such a way as to tend to disorderly conduct. The authority which the legislature has conferred upon cities is to prohibit the same of intoxicating liquors and to prevent intoxication.

* * * *

Liquor is Personal rPoperty.

Intoxicating liquor is held in this state by the same title as any other personal property. It may be purchased and sold in the places where its sale is lawful, the same as any other personal property and the owner's title to it is as indefeasable, subject to the regulation enacted by the legislature. When the case of beer in question was delivered to the railroad company in Bloomington it became the property of the purchaser and he had the right to carry it where he chose, tho he could not sell it in Jacksonville and could not sell it anywhere without a license. He had a right to keep it, to use it himself and to transport it wherever he chose. Being such owner of property and having the right to carry it with him, he also had the right to contract to have it carried by someone else. The appellee, the Chicago & Alton railroad, in this case is a common carrier. It is bound to receive property for carriage from anyone who sees fit to tender it for that purpose and pays the proper charges. It cannot know what use the owner may intend to make of the property delivered to it for carriage. Under this ordinance its knowledge is immaterial and the intended use is immaterial. The mere fact of the carriage of intoxicating liquors into the city of Jacksonville is made an offense and thus the appellee is deprived of the right to carry and to contract to carry property which is properly right. The laws which authorize the city council to license, regulate and prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors does not authorize it to prevent the transportation of such liquors by common carriers into the city. The ordinance is withtout authority of law and is void. The judgment of the circuit court was right and it is affirmed."

The St. Louis Globe makes mention of the trial of a $25,000 damage suit brought by Miss Bertha M. Hueffmeister against J. I. Olion formerly of this city. Miss Hueffmeier was employed in the millinery department at Mr. Olian's store and testified that on August 26 last, when she was sent to Mr. Olian's private office to get a check that he attacked her. She charges that during the struggle which followed she was severely bruised and subsequently was confined to her home for several weeks. Mr. Olian claims that on the day of the alleged attack that Miss Hueffmeier backed out of the office door when she left him and suffered a fall, resulting in the injuries of which she complains. He denies absolutely the charge made in the complaint.

BEST CROP CONDITIONS HERE

A number of farmers and stockmen from Iowa and two from Indiana recently visited the farm of F. E. Drury in the Orleans neighborhood. They declared that crop conditions in this locality are much better than in any part of the country they had seen in their travels. All of the visitors had been to other farming localities before coming here. From other reports also it is the general understanding that while farming here has been interfered with to some extent by the continued rains, the general condition is much better than in the surrounding states. This applies to corn, wheat, oats and clover. Farmers in Morgan county should take due notice and be thankful.

MORTUARY

Maupin

The death of Mrs. Grace Adele Maupin came very unexpectedly Friday afternoon at Our Saviour's hospital. Mrs. Maupin had been a patient there for a week and it was only a few hours before her death that her condition was considered in any way serious. Mrs. Maupin was the daughter of Oscar F., and Esther Price Conklin and she was born October 11, 1874, at Ravenna, Muskegon county, Mich. She spent the early part of her life at Grand Rapids, Mich., and received her education in the school there. It was in that city that she was married to B. Willard Negus of Waverly, Nebr., and the family home was established on a farm in the Orleans neighborhood in this county about fifteen years ago.

Subsequent to the death of Mr. Negus in 1914, the deceased was married to Samuel Major Maupin, who with four children, survives her. The children are Esther Lydia, Benjamin W., Anna Adele and Conklin H. Negus. The deceased leaves also her father, O. F. Conklin, and her sister, Mrs. Mitchell S. Zachary of this city.

Mrs. Maupin was a member of Pisgah Presbyterian church and during her residence in the Orleans neighborhood had been interested in the various departments of the church work. She was devoted to her home and family and in addition found time for aiding quite largely in the direction of extensive farming operations. She was a woman of many admirable characteristics, and as a result of her untimely death the family will have the sympathy of the entire community.

The funeral will be held at the residence of Mr. Conklin on Mound avenue at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, and interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Lonergan.

Mrs. James Lonergan died at the family home east of Woodson at 3:30 Friday morning. Mrs. Lonergan, whose maiden name was Mary Sullivan, daughter of John Sullivan, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1857, and came to this state with the family when she was small. She was married to James Lonergan Feb. 5, 1883 and is survived by him and eight children, Cornelius, Bridget, (Mrs. John Langdon), Nellie, (Mrs. Dan Winter), Richard, Thomas, Paul, Alice and Lena at home. She was a devoted member of St. Bartholomew church at Murrayville, where the funeral will be conducted at 11 a. m. Sunday. Burial will be in the Roman Catholic cemetery near that place.

Mrs. G. W. Flagge was hostess to the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Centenary M. E. church Friday afternoon at her home on East State Street. Mrs. C. S. Smith was leader and Mrs. Naomi Wharton had in charge the enigmas. The treasurer's report, given by Mrs. Charles Glossop, showed all pledges for the year paid up. At the conclusion of the program and business, excellent refreshments were served by Mrs. Flagge and a social hour ensued.

The next meeting of the society will be held Friday, July 21, at the home of Mrs. Lucretia Brown on E. State Street.

being seen and felt here. Nowhere in or about Springfield is the seriousness of the Mexican situation so poignantly reflected as at Camp Lincoln. There is no horseplay, no hilarity, no infractions of camp law such as is frequently observed at annual encampments of state militia.

Women Visitors Are Numerous

Women visitors are as numerous in this camp as at any gathering of uniformed soldiers, but they are a serious-looking lot of women—wives mothers and sweetheart saying goodby to their boys and men. In their faces one can see that both the men and women realize it may be the last goodby.

Many Come From Chicago

Every train from Chicago brings dozens of women who have come to be near their men-folk until the order to move south is given. Some officers are planning to bring their wives near the point of concentration on the border when that point is announced.

Fatherhood Comes to Two

One member of the First Cavalry went to bed (a sack of straw) last night the father of a six-hour old child, another the father of a week old babe, each wondering how the mother and baby felt and each wishing he were at their side.

Lighter Side Also in Evidence

In one respect the eight hours hard labor thru which the men were put during the day proved a blessing to them for it induced a sound sleep. Rivalry between the various troops in the First Cavalry and between the cavalry and artillery troops enlivened matters. The lighter side of camp life was in evidence in spots, thus over the door flap of one tent was the legend in chalk, "Ancient Order of Crapshooters."

WITH THE SICK.

Miss Lucile Sperry, who for the past few days has been ill with tonsilitis at her home on Routt street, is improving.

Friends of Mrs. Maud Powers of 615 North Fayette street will be pleased to know that she is recovering rapidly from a serious operation recently performed.

John Seymour of Franklin who has been a patient at the Passavant hospital for some time was removed yesterday to the Old Soldiers Home in Quincy. Mr. Seymour is a veteran of the Civil War.

Miss Ursula Davey celebrated her birthday while a patient at Passavant hospital. Miss Davey was well remembered by her friends, and received many flowers and gifts.

Bert Foster asd Mrs. Conolee of Franklin were visitors at Passavant hospital Thursday.

Mrs. Richard Sunberg of Hadley was in the city yesterday visiting her sister, Mrs. George Tholen of West Lafayette avenue, and her son Emery, who was taken to Passavant hospital a few days ago.

Mrs. Rose Schon of Roodhouse underwent a minor operation Friday morning at Our Savior's hospital. She was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. L. A. Sparlin.

John E. Thompson of Murrayville has for the past few days gone to Roodhouse each evening to attend his father, David Thompson, seriously ill at his home there.

MISS ANNA GORDON ON PROGRAM

Beloit, Kas., June 23—A large and enthusiastic attendance marked the opening here today of the first annual convention of the Kansas young people's branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The convention proceedings will continue three days, concluding Sunday night with an address by Miss Anna Gordon of Chicago, national president of the W. C. T. U.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE AT AIRDOME

The Blankenburg trio was the vaudeville attraction at the Airdome last night and will appear again today. This was advertised as a very classy musical act, and so the large audience at the Airdome last night found it. The contralto voice in the trio is especially noteworthy and the act is one which Manager Scott can unhesitatingly recommend to Airdome patrons.

PATRIOTISM RIFE AT MASS MEETING

OLD SOLDIERS GATHERED HERE TO ENCOURAGE MILTIAMEN

Addresses Made Teemed With Love of Country—Speakers Urged Young Men To Bring Company B. to Full Quota..

Patriotism is not dead in Jacksonville and Morgan county. In fact it is not even dozing if one may judge from the ovation that greeted Commander John Minter when he marched eighteen members of Matt Starr Post G. A. R. into Armory hall Friday night. The grey haired veterans who were the boys of '61 were greeted with cheers and the audience uncovered in their honor.

The meeting Friday night was largely attended. While it did not bear immediate fruit in the way of enlistments there is no doubt but that it will result in many enlistments within the next few days.

One unfortunate feature of the meeting was the calling of Captain Owen to Springfield. Capt. Owen received an unexpected call from Col. Wood commanding the Fifth Regiment, to go to Springfield to a meeting of the officers staff of the regiment. He left on the Wabash at 6:25 and did not have an opportunity to give Lieutenant Hale any instructions as to the program that had been outlined.

Informal Program.

Lieut. Hale after consultation with Prof. J. H. Rayhill decided to make the affair wholly informal. Prof Rayhill called the assembly to order and made a few remarks. The speaker said that man's first duty was to his God, then his country, his family and himself. He extended an invitation to all young men to come forward and sign the company roster. He then introduced Major McDougall.

"I was only notified about ten minutes ago after I had entered the hall that I was expected to make a speech," said Maj. McDougall. "However I am always ready and do not need an invitation to make a speech at a gathering of this kind."

Major McDougall brought forth a burst of enthusiasm when he turned to the members of Co. B. who were standing at rest near the speakers table and asked, "Are you willing to go outside the United States to serve your country." The members of the company answered as one man, "Yes."

"The United States is not a military nation," said the speaker. "Some people express the fear that the time might come when it will be ruled by the military. I do not believe there is any danger of that. But I do believe that we should always be prepared to protect ourselves and our citizens wherever they may be."

The speaker then quoted Stephen Decatur's famous expression, "My country in her intercourse with foreign nations may she ever be right. But right or wrong, My Country!"

Mexican Situation Reviewed.

Major McDougall then gave a brief resume of the events that had led up to the present situation in Mexico. He also pointed out to the members of Co. B., that the life of a soldier was not a bed or roses. He did say, however, the life of a soldier made better citizens of men and in most cases better fitted them for civil life in that it taught them obedience of law.

"Morgan county has never been excelled by any county in the state or in the United States in point of patriotism when the occasion arose" said the speaker. "It furnished its full quota of men for the Mexican war, the civil war and the Spanish-American war. A whole regiment was raised in Morgan county for the civil war. One whole company was raised here that had not place to go and went to Missouri and served in a Missouri cavalry company." "Some of those men," added Major McDougall, "are here tonight."

The speaker closed with a strong appeal to young men to enlist so that it could not be said that Morgan county was not as she always had been, in the front rank as to patriotism.

Mr. Ensley Moore was then introduced, Mr. Moore said in part substantially:

In beginning, the speaker made an appreciative reference to the young men of Co. B. ready to go to the front, and to the older men of the G. A. R. who had been there.

Mr. Moore said that "in all its history, Jacksonville had been first and foremost when the country called. In 1861 Mr. Lincoln called for the first Volunteers, April 14, Sunday. Monday morning before going to school the speaker came down town, and found in Chambers Hall, headquarters of the "Hardin Light Guard, a drum beating, a flag hung out, and an enlistment roll, on which were the names of forty-five men. At Hatfield hall—now the Elks—was the armory of the "Union Guard" where the roll showed thirty-five enlisted. One week later these two companies, running over full left for Cairo, the front of this section.

Lincoln said "the worst use a man could be put to was to shoot him," But that applied to those whom over strict military rules would execute for some breaking of discipline Lincoln saw the need of patriotic support, and of men ready to die for their country.

As this hall was first finished in 1861, there was the portrait of a soldier up in the cove of the ceiling. It was that of Col. John J. Hardin, who gave his life at Buena Vista, Mexico. And it semed that this hall, so long an armory of Co. I, and Co. B, of National Guard, was the brooding place of the spirit of that patriotic man.

The speaker exhorted the young men of today to be men in this hour when the country might need their services, as our boys had been when called for in 1846, and in 1861, and even in Black Hawk's time.

It was a Jacksonville man, Benjamin H. Grierson, who by his splendid raid thru Mississippi, before the capture of Vicksburg, first showed, "the Confederacy to be a shell" and in valiant manner carried the colors down from Memphis to Baton Rouge.

And in 1864, when the Confederates came in on Memphis it was a Jacksonville man—Col. Matt H. Starr—for whom our G. A. R. post here at present was named, that saved the day for the Union army. Starr giving his life as a price of that defense.

It was a citizen of Jacksonville—in the days of '61—who made the greatest War Governor, "Glorious Dick Yates", and he it was that, sent to the nation that matchless officer, grand soldier and incomparable leader—Ulysses S. Grant."

Brif talks also were made by George Faul and Alexander Armstrong. Both speakers urged the young men, to enlist so that when the call came, as they were sure it would that Co. B., would leave with a full quota of 140 men.

BOTH TROOPS OF TENTH WIPED OUT

in the action at Carrizal was Captain Lewis S. Morey of Troop K., Tenth Cavalry. It was pointed out that if he was the only surviving officer of the command his wounds may have prevented his reporting to General Pershing immediately.

Press dispatches from field headquarters that American stragglers from the engagement asserted the command had been led into a trap, were taken as supporting a story brought to the border yesterday by an American. He said the Americans were lured into a cleverly constructed pitfall concealed in the underbrush.

Report Stirs Washington

Washington, June 23—General Pershing's report indicating that the American cavalry command engaged treacherous attack by Carranza soldiers and virtually was wiped out stirred Washington tonight with a deeper apprehension than has been aroused by any other development in the series which have brought the two countires to the brink of war.

Tension Greatly Increased

While no official would make any statement whatever there were many grim evidences that tension had been greatly increased. President Wilson, who had retired before the news reached Washington was awakened and talked with Secretary Baker over the telephone. At the war department officials apparently credited for the first time the story that the Mexican troops had been guilty of an act which could lead only to the most serious consequences.

Had Not Reached Department

Late tonight the Pershing report told of in news despatches had not reached the war department officially. A report received from the commander in Mexico, however, said that seven negro soldiers who had held the horses of the others had become separated from them in the fight had straggled into the field base at Colonia Dublan and repeated the version of the story told in messages from General Pershing earlier in the day.

Broken Country Makes Travel Slow

General Scott, chief of staff in giving out the despatch emphasized that failure to get in touch with survivors of the fight could not in itself be accepted as indicating that the command had been annihilated. He pointed out that Carrizal was sixty miles from the American base and that three or four days would be only a reasonable time for a troop to travel that distance over the broken country of northern Mexico.

Hope for Official Version Soon

There was still hope that an official version of what happened and how it came to happen would be obtainable soon from responsible officers of the engaged troops. The conversation between the president and his secretary of war lasted several minutes and afterward Mr. Wilson remained up for half an hour, waiting for possible receipt of further details of the developments of which the secretary had told him. He then retired without going to his office or talking to Secretary Tumulty who was waiting there.

NORTH CAROLINA HONORS VANCE

Washington, D. C., June 22—In commemoration of his great services to his State and country, a statue of Zebulon B. Vance, soldier of the Confederacy, war governor of North Carolina and for many years a prominent figure in the United States senate, was unveiled today in Statuary Hall at the Capitol. The unveiling was made the occasion of an imposing ceremony in which the participants included the Vice President of the United States, members of the senate and house of representatives, official representatives of the State of North Carolina, and several members of the family of the late Senator Vance. The statue is the work of Gutzon Borglum, the well known sculptor.

ELECTRO PURE WATER COMPANY HAS BEEN REORGANIZED

Well Known Local Men Take Over Business and Will Push It All Over the State.

The Electro Pure Water Co. was re-organized recently and will begin business immediately. This company will run on a partnership basis for a few days and will then be incorporated under the incorporation laws of Illinois. The owners and directors of the company are, J. A. Munson, J. N. Conover and C. H. Philleo of this city and A. H. Dunham of Beardstown. The company purchased the plant in this city from The American Pure Water Co. They have also purchased a plant in Springfield from E. G. Sibley. The patent to the electro water is owned by the American Water Co., and has been leased by the Electro Pure Water Co. for the state of Illinois. The Jacksonville plant is in operation at the present time and the Springfield plant will probably begin activities by the first of July.

The company expects to expand the business and will install branches in all of the larger cities of Illinois. The electro process consists of purifying any water by electricity. Tests by the state board of health and the state water survey show that any water treated by this process is absolutely free from all disease germs, vegetable matter and all other impurities. The process does not however free the water from the mineral compounds.

C. H. Philleo is now at the head of the company's business here and will remain in charge until other branches are established. He will then take the general managership and devote his attention to the various branches.

U. C. T. PICNIC.

The Jacksonville Council of United Commercial Travelers is preparing to have a big picnic a week from today, July first, at Nichols park. The affair is to begin at 2 p. m. and their ball team will cross bats with the team from Springfield. There will also be games and races for the children. A fine time is confidently expected and all members are urged to attend with their families.

TO PRESERVE THE HAIR

When your child is grown, the condition of and the amount of his or her hair will depend largely upon the way it is cared for now.

The human hair is composed of about 175,000 delicate oil plants.

Ordinary soaps and shampoos will soon destroy the natural oil and the fatty roots of these plants making the hair dry and brittle or destroying it entirely. EVERY WEEK SHAMPOO is an Anti-Septic Oil Shampoo that cleanses and purifies the scalp thoroughly and leaves the hair just as nature intended, soft, fluffy, silky, and the scalp slightly moist with oil, but no surplus oil in the hair.

If men would use EVERY WEEK ANTI-SEPTIC OIL SHAMPOO instead of the strong alkali shampoos which are so commonly used, they would preserve their hair rather than invite baldness. EVERY WEEK SHAMPOO dissolves and removes the dandruff (dry or oily), opens the hair cells, feeds and strengthens the famished roots and leaves the hair clean, soft, fluffy silky and the scalp healthy. A weekly application for men and children and every other week for women keeps the scalp clean, healthy and the hair in excellent condition.

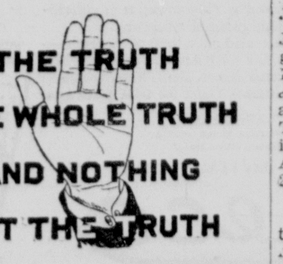

EVERY WEEK ANTISEPTIC OIL SHAMPOO contains both mineral and cocoanut oils which cleanse the scalp and give the hair plant the oil which is required. It lathers freely removes any surplus oil, but does not remove the natural oil which healthy hair requires.

SUPREME COURT REVIEWS SCHOOL CASE

TEXT OF FINDING GIVES REASONS FOR UPHOLDING ACT

Statute as Passed by Legislature Constituitonal Unless Most Technical Interpretation Were Given—Tendency is to Promote Uniformity In School Management.

The supreme court finding in the Jacksonville school case has been received. The court some weeks ago made an oral announcement that the writ of mandamus was allowed instructing the township trustees to call an election. It was not until Thursday, however, that the yritten opinion was made public. The case appeared on the docket as "People ex rel. George S. Rogerson, petitioner vs. William A. Crawley, et al, respondents." Judge Carter delivered the opinion of the court and dissenting opinions were filed by Judge Dunne and Judge Cartwright. The opinion holds that to construe the act whereby the charter of the Jacksonville school district was abolished violated the constitution, would require a wholly technical ruling. It is held that the substance and not the form determine the constitutionality of an enactment.

The court declared that a great weight of authority as well as by the letter and spirit of constitutional provisions the statute abolishing the board was valid. The effect of the law was pointed out as tending to promote uniformity in the character and organization of incorporated cities and the management of the schools and not to perpetuate dissimilarity.

Mr. Justice Carter delivered the opinion of the court:

At the April term of this court a petition was filed for a writ of mandamus against the respondents, trustees of schools of township 15, north, range 10, west of the third principal meridian, in Morgan county, Illinois, requiring them to cause the territory formerly constituting school district No. 117, theretofore acting under special charter, to be organized into a school district under the general school law of the state and to hold an election for a board of education. The writ was issued as prayed at the April term, with the statement from the bench that an opinion would be filed later.

The Charter Amended

The city of Jacksonville was incorporated by special charter February 10, 1857. (Private laws of 1857, p. 344). The legislature amended the charter several times, and by a special act approved February 16, 1867, granted a new charter. (Private Laws of 1867, p. 336.) This charter was also amended prior to the constitution of 1870. Article 11 of that charter provided for a system of "graded schools." The first section of that article stated that all the territory within the city of Jacksonville should be a common school district, and section 3 provided that the district should be under the supervision of a board of education, consisting of the mayor and one director from each ward. Section 18 provided that all the officers should hold their offices until their successors were appointed and qualified. The district composed of said city has been known as No. 117. In 1887, under an election held for that purpose, the city of Jacksonville adopted and became organized under the general law for the incorporation of cities and villages. This court, in Smith vs. People, 154 Ill. 58, while deciding that the city of Jacksonville by this election abrogated the special charter, generally, as to city government, held that article 11, providing for a special school district, was still in force. In 1915 an act was passed repealing section 11 of the city charter, reading as follows:

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: That article 11 of an act entitled 'An act to incorporate the city of Jacksonville, in the county of Morgan, and State of Illinois, approved February 15, 1867, as amended by an act approved March 29, 1869, be and the same is hereby repealed. This last shall not take effect and be in force until the first day of March, A. D., 1916. (Laws of 1915, p. 296.)

History of Case

On March 1, 1916, the school trustees of said township held a special meeting at the request of various citizens, to consider whether the territory theretofore composing school district No. 117 was unincorporated territory, and whether, therefore, they shoulud proceed to organize it under section 45 of the general school law. At this meeting the trustees passed a resolution which stated, among other things, that they refused to take any steps toward the organization of said territory into a school district until required to do so by the judgment, order or decree of a competent court. The respondents have filed an answer in this cause, admitting all the material facts here stated but denying that the writ should issue, because they assert that said act repealing article 11 is void, being special legislation in conflict with section 22 of article 4 of the constitution of 1870.

The provisions of said section 22 which are relied on by respondents read as follows: "The General Assembly shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say for: Incorporating cities, towns or villages, or changing or amending the charter of any town, city or village; Providing for the management of common schools. In all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted."

It is not seriously contended by counsel for respondents that the last clause just quoted applies to the facts in this case. They insist, however, that the repeal of said article 11 amounted to changing and amending the charter of a city; while counsel for the People insist that under the statement of facts such act of June, 1915, in no way amends or changes the city charter, as, they argue, under the holding in Smith vs. People, supra, the special charter of the city was revoked and the city came under the general cities and villages act and the school district was practically left under a special charter by itself, which did not still constitute a part of the city charter. They further argue that under the decisions of this court, among which is Land Comrs. vs. Kaskaskia Commons, 249 Ill. 578, the act of June, 1915, does not provide for "the management of schools." Therefore they claim that said act is not void as in conflict with any of the provisions of section 22.

Law Must Not Lean to Technical

For the purposes of this case we will assume that article 11 of the special charter of said city was at the time of the passage of said act of June, 1915, still to be considered a part of the city charter. Must we then conclude that the act of June, 1915, is in conflict with the provision of the said section 22 of article 4 of the constitution that the charters of incorporated cities cannot be amended or changed by special legislation? We cannot hold that said act is so in conflict. The general principles governing the construction of constitutions are the same as those that apply to statutes. (People vs. Hutchinson, 172 Ill. 486, and cited authorities; 8 Cyc., 729.) If there be any distinction, less technical rules of construction are applied in construing statutes. "Narrow, technical reasoning is misplaced when it is brought to bear upon an instrument framed by the people themselves for themselves, and designed as a chart, upon which every man, learned and unlearned, may be able to trace the leading principles of government." (Cooley's Const. Lim. —6th ed. —73; Am. & Eng. Ency. of Law,—2d ed.—925, and note. In construing constitutions, as with statutes, the chief purpose is to give effect to the intent of the makers. (Cooley's Const. Lim.—6th ed.—69.) In seeking such intention we are to consider the language used by the legislature, the evil to be remedied and the object to be attained. We are not confined to the literal meaning of the words. A thing within the intention is regarded with the statute tho not within the letter. A thing within the letter is not within the statute if not within the intention. When the intention can be gathered from the entire document, words may be modified or altered so as to obviate all inconsistency with such intention. When great inconvenience or absurd consequences will result from a particular construction the courts are bound to assume that such consequences are not intended. (Heyne vs. Danisch, 264 Ill., 476, and cases cited; Warner vs. King, 267 id. 82.) "In construing so important an instrument as a constitution * * * we are not, on the one hand, to indulge ingenious speculations which may lead us wide from the true sense and spirit of the instrument, nor, on the other, to apply to it such narrow and constrained views as may exclude the real object and intent of those who framed it. * * * We are to suppose that those who were delegated to the great business of distributing the powers which emanated from the sovereignty of the people and to establishment of rules for the perpetual security of the rights of person and property had the wisdom to adapt their language to future as well as existing emergencies.

Purpose of Section 22

"Qui haeret in litera haeret in cortice" is a familiar maxim in the law. 'The letter killeth but the spirit maketh alive,' is the more forcible expression of scripture. (Henshaw vs. Foster, 26 Mrs., 312.) The chief if not the sole, purpose of the provisions of said section 22 of article 4 of the constitution was to discourage dissimilarity, and to promote and encourage legislation which should be uniform on all subjects referred to in said section. The debates in the constitutional convention on this subject and the decisions of this court support this conclusion. In People vs. Cooper, 83 Ill. 585, in construing the provisions of this section of the constitution, it was stated, (p. 591): "It is the substance, and not the mere form given to the enactment, which must determine its constitutionality. If the act must necessarily produce a result clearly and unquestionably forbidden by the constitution it cannot be upheld, whatever may be its form or profession, and, therefore if the General Assembly should, by one or more enactments, authorize the incorporation of every city, every town or every village with a distinct and dissimilar organization and powers, such enactment or enactments would be within the constitutional prohibition of 'local or special legislation' altho having the form of general laws." In Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Co. vs. Randle, 183 Ill. 364, it was argued that certain acts violated the provisions of the constitution as to special legislation. The court there said (p. 370): "The acts in question do not violate this provision. They apply to all cities in the state having such school laws, and prescribe for them the same methods of constituting the board of education, and of the same limit of taxation, as is prescribed for other cities which levy school taxes under the general law. These acts tend to uniformity rather than to perpetuate differences. Surely an act which should repeal all such special laws would not be a local or special law and obnoxious to this provision of the constitution, and so one repealing all special limitations, leaving all other provisions of such special acts in force, is, upon the same principle, not prohibited."

No Intent to Have Charters Unchangeable

It was never intended by these provisions of the constitution that the special charters then in existence of cities and villages could not be changed or modified. It has been frequently held by this court that all municipal corporations are subject to legislative control, and their charters may be changed, modified, enlarged, restrained or abolished to suit the exigencies of the case. (City of Chicago vs. Town of Cicero, 210 Ill. 290, and cited cases; Chalstran vs. Board of Education, 244 Ill. 480.) The only restriction upon this power is that it shall not be done by local or special laws. It may well be that article 11 of the special charter of the city of Jacksonville is different from the school provisions of the special charter of any other city in the state. By this section of the constitution it was surely never understood that there was no legal way of modifying or changing said article 11. If it cannot be done by law, then a law which by its words seemed to apply to all cities having such provisions would not be constitutional, if, in fact, it only applied to the city of Jacksonville, for this court has more than once held that a statute general in its terms but applicable only to one single locality was special and not general. (Devine vs. Cook County comrs. 84 Ill. 596; nopf vs. People, 185 id. 20; Kingsbury vs. Sperry, 119 id. 279; Pettibone vs. West Chicago Park Comrs. 215 id. 304.)

Law Promotes Uniformity

This court has never held any act unconstitutional, under this section which tended to uniformity rather than to create differences, and while it may be argued that this act is special, in that it only applies to one city, to so hold would surely be to construe these constitutional provisions technically and not according to their spirit, for the result of this legislation is to bring the schools in the city of Jacksonville under the provisions of the general law, and, thus promote uniformity "rather than to perpetuate differences." This court said in People vs. Cooper, supra, on page 590: "It is not admissible, either by the letter or the spirit of the constitution, that dissimilarity in charater of organzaton or powers, in municipalities of the same class or grade, shall be created or perpetuated by enacrments of the general assembly." This doctrine is quoted with approval by this court in People vs. Board of Trustees, 170 Ill. 468. To hold as contended by counsel for respondents would be to defeat the essential principle which said section 22 was enacted to safeguard and guarantee. In Jarrolt vs. Moberly, 103 U. S. 580, the court said (p. 586): "A constitutional provision should not be construed so as to defeat its evident purpose but rather at which it was aimed. To contedn that the mere subdivision of counties into townships enabled the legislature to evade the constitutional provision is to ignore the manifest intention and spirit of that instrument. This is in accord with the principle already quoted from a decision of this court, that "it is the substance and not the form" that determine the constitutionality of an enactment. It is the real intent and purpose, rather than the strict interpretation, that should be followed in construing constitutions.

Statute Valid in Spirit and Letter

We cannot escape the conclusion that by the great weight of authority, as well as by the letter and spirit of these constitutional provisions, this statute is valid. To so hold certainly tends to promote uniformity in the character of the organization of incorporated cities and in the management of their schools, and not to perpetuate dissimilarity.

zCounsel for respondents in their answer assert that in recent years the voters of the city of Jacksonville have voted against organizing the school district under the general law. We do not think this is material to the constitutional question here under consideration. In matters of this kind it is solely within the discretion of the legislature to decide whether they shall first obtain the consent of the people in the locality to be affected or act directly themselves. City of Chicago vs. Town of Cicero, supra.

The law being valid, the writ will be awarded as asked for in the petition.

HARVRD CREW WINS BOAT RACE FROM YALE

Course is Rowed in Record Time—Eli Oarsmen Exhausted at Finish.

New London, June 23.—Rowing the course in record time the Harvard 'varsity crew defeated Yale here late this afternoon in the four mile race, the feature event of the fiftieth regetta betwen the two universities. The winning completed a clean sweep of the Thames river, which began yesterday with the rowing of the freshmen sub-fours and extended thru the freshman and second 'varsity eights races contested and won early this forenoon. Perfect weather and water conditions prevailed. Harvard won in twenty minutes, two seconds, thus clipping eight seconds off the best previous time for the four miles made by the Yale crew in 1888. Yale's time was 20:17. Yale never seriously threatened the "Crimson" but tried desperately several times to cut down the lead of their rivals.

The Eli oarsmen were badly exhausted at the finish line.

Harvard rowed in splendid form thruout the entire four miles and won by fully three lengths from the New Haven crew.

BALL PLAYERS FRATERNITY AIDS OLD TIME BALL PLAYERS

In a recent number of the Baseball Magazine, D. L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity publishes a letter from Bumpus Jones, an old time ball player. Jones is now in an infirmary in Dayton, Ohio, and as is the case with many of the old time players has but little of the world's goods. The letter is one thanking Fultz for aid given by the fraternity to Jones. It is one of the purposes of the organization to assist players in need and worthy of assistance.

The case of Jones is one of more than usual local interest because Jones once performed before Jacksonville baseball crowds. In 1892 when Jacksonville had her first league baseball Jones was a star pitcher with the Joliet team in the old Western Association. Jones undoubtedly was one of the best hurlers in the circuit and while he won lots of games from Jacksonville the local team also gave him several hard bumpings.

Jones was more or less of a comedian and made lots of fun for the crowds on the coaching lines. After leaving Joliet he went up higher and pitched some good ball for Cincinnati. His career was short, however, in the big show and he finally dropped back to the minors and then into oblivion. Billy Murray played center field and managed the Joliet team in those days and afterward went to Philadelphia where he managed the National League team.

CONFIDENCE IS UNIPAIRED BY INTERNATIONAL CONTINGENCIES

Dun Reports Legitimate Enterprise Undisturbsd and Speculative Markets Only Moderately So.

New York, June 23—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

"With the economic structure, thru the better organization of banking resources, credits and industry, resting on a more solid foundation of banking resources, confidence is unimparied by the international contingencies. It is noteworthy that speculative markets have been only moderately disturbed and money and legitimate enterprise not at all, tho prudence is shown in extending committments further ahead. This is a wholesome tendency and the readjustment of prices now in progress in some lines will also prove beneficial in its ultimate effects.

"Constructive developments still predominate in the business world and remarkable activity prevails at a period which ordinarily is one of the quietest of the year. There is no longer the rush to buy that featured recent operations—the high costs entering more into calculations now than requirements are mainly covered far ahead—but in most instances new demands are greater than is usual at the beginning of summer. No machinery is idle in any industry thru lack of contracts, but in some full production is not possible because of strikes and labor shortage. Weekly bank clearings $4,220,048,988."

TEMPLAR CONCLAVE ENDS

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23—The triennial conclave of Knights Templar, which has held forth in Los Angeles this week, is now a thing of the past. Already the white plumes and gold girt uniforms which have been so familiar for five days are today a comparative rarity, and tonight the outgoing trains will be laden with the rear guard of homebound passengers. In numerous instances the commanderies will split up in order to take in points of interest in the far West before resuming their journey homeward. The triennial has been notable for the great number of women present. A majority of the Sir Knights brought their wives or daughters with them, and California's daughters were everywhere looking to the entertainment of guests. For the enjoyment of the visitors who remained over tomorrow there was a midsummer allegoriacl and floral parade this morning. The eight divisions were composed of more than 3,000 pupils of the Los Angeles public schools.

GOOD RACE MEETING PREDICTED

New York, June 23—All the indications are that the Summer meeting of the Queens County Jockey Club, which opens at the Aqueduct race course tomorrow will be one of the most successful meetings since the revival of the sport in the metropolitan district. There are several hundred well known horses now stabled at the track and this number will be largely increased after the close of the meeting at Jamaica today.

Fourteen stake events are to be run during the Aqueduct meeting, chief of which are the Brooklyn Handicap, the Brooklyn Derby and the Queens County Handicap. The Brooklyn Handicap and the Brooklyn Derby are among the oldest racing events in the east, and were formerly run at Gravesend, the opening year being 1887, when Dry Monople took the Handicap and Hanover won the Brooklyn Derby.

THE SAME OLD SPIRIT.

The venerable Peter Obermeyer of Winchester, now 83 years old, served faithfully three years in the war of the rebellion and still has much of the martial spirit left. Writing to his son, J. A. Obermeyer of this city the old gentleman says:

"I have little news to write except the war with Mexico. If there is to be war with that country, I wish they would get up a brigade of the veterans of the civil war. I would like to join such an organization and go down there and thresh those Mexicans and teach them some sense."

The Peerless Mitchell Car

JOHN W. BATE, the efficiency engineer, is in charge of Mitchell production.

He designed the model factory, which now covers 45 acres. He efluipped it with 2092 minute-saving machines.

The $5,000,000 Mitchell plant is now conceded to be the most efficient in the world for building cars of this class.

His genius for efficiency is also shown in a thousand details of the car itself.

It appears in utter simplicity. It appears in a wealth of Chrome-Vanadium steel.

It is shown in 184 drop forgings, in 256 steel stampings—largely displacing parts heavier, more brittle and less strong.

37 engineers, each a notable expert, most of them of nation-wide fame, selected the Mitchell as the car for their personal use. They did it of their own volition. The fact is that these men—who can understand—bought the Mitchell for themselves. And by this choice they certify the Mitchell as a masterpiece of modern engineering.

FLYING BULLETS.

Forces That Control the Curve They Take to Reach the Ground.

The trajectory of a rifle is the curve which the bullet describes in traveling from the muzzle of the rifle to its mark at a given range. This curve is the component of two forces—first, the momentum imparted to the bullet in the rifle barrel and, second, the downward pull of gravitation. Many persons have the erroneous idea that so long as a body is traveling ahead very fast it will not drop.

The fallacy of this notion can be very prettily shown by a laboratory experiment in which two rubber balls of the same size and weight are projected from a miniature catapult at precisely the same instant, but in such a way that ball A has double the velocity of ball B. Although ball A will travel twice as far as ball B before it strikes the floor, it will always be observed that the two balls strike the floor at the same instant.

High velocity, then, does not free a rifle bullet from the effect of gravity, but it does enable it to travel a greater distance ahead before it has had time to fall any given distance. That is the true reason why high velocity tends to give a low trajectory. For comparison of cartridges the height of the trajectory at midrange is generally taken as the standard.—Outing.

APACHES OF PARIS.

Strife Over an Underworld Beauty Led to Their Undoing.

The apaches of Paris are an order of the lowest and most dangerous criminals in the world. There is not a great central organization like the Italian orders and no fixed rules or assemblies. It consists merely of groups of crooks operating in different quarters of the city. These little groups or circles take their names from the quarter of the city that they inhabit and have their own conventional signs, places of meeting, leaders and the like. The members are usually young, beginning as boys of ten or fifteen years.

The women associated with these criminal bands are called marmites in the vernacular of the underworld. There was a struggle in Paris between the apache bands of Manda and Lecca, involving, like the Iliad, the abduction of a Helen. She was a famous beauty in the subterranean cafes of Paris and called, in the argot of Montmartre, La Casque d'Or. The very name has the ring of romance. She was betrothed to the leader of the Manda and was carried off by the rival band of Lecca. War followed between the bands—a bitter, vindictive, bloody feud.

This contest destroyed the apache ascendancy in Paris.—Melville D. Post in Saturday Evening Post.

Threatened the King.

The honor of knighthood is not one which appeals to everybody. Coke of Norfolk, who considered that he had a far better claim than the speaker to the designation of first commoner of England, strongly disliked the idea of a handle to his name. This fact was well known to George IV. When Coke was chosen to head a deputation praying the king to dismiss from his person and council those advisers who by their conduct had proved themselves alike enemies to the throne and people George announced that he would get even with him. "If Coke of Norfolk enters my presence," he declared, "I swear I'll knight him." The threat was repeated to Coke, who rejoined, "If he dares such a thing I swear I'll break his sword." And, as the sturdy Norfolk squire was quite capable of doing this, George refrained from carrying out his threat.

Feet of the Chameleon.

In their tongue, their feet and their eyes chameleons differ remarkably from other lizards. Their feet, though possessing five toes, are divided into two grasping groups, looking like a hand in mittens, and only by close examination you perceive the presence of the two or the three opposing respectively, but so close together as to appear like one broad one. On the padded soles or palms of these grasping limbs you can feel and see the small—may one say—palpi, which enable them to grasp so firmly that it is difficult to detach a chameleon from its foothold. These clinging feet, together with their prehensile tail, enable them to sustain themselves on the branches in the strongest gale.

Needn't Go Higher.

A drawing master, who had been worrying a pupil with contemptuous remarks as to his want of skill in the use of the pencil, ended by saying:

"If you were to draw me, for example, tell me what part you would draw first?"

The pupil, with a significant meaning in his eye, looked up into his master's face and quietly said:

"Your neck, sir."—London Tit-Bits.

Mother's Work.

"Father, you always seem to be in a better humor when you come home at night than when you go away in the morning," said the daughter.

"Of course," replied the parent; "you see I have some money in my pocket when I come home."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Fruit of Search.

"Smifkins went hunting for a peach for a wife."

"Well, what happened?"

"He picked a lemon."—Baltimore American.

WHEAT QUOTATIONS HIT LOW POINT

No Export Demand and Enlarged Crop Estimates Responsible for Drop in Price.

Chicago, June 23.—Wheat dropped today to the lowest prices yet this season, going for the first time under $1.00 a bushel. Enlarged crop estimates and the lack of export demand appeared to be chiefly responsible. The market closed heavy 2⅝ to 3@3⅛c net lower, with July at 99¾@⅞c and Sept., at $1.02⅝@⅝. Other leading staples foo all underwent a setback—corn 1⅝@1¾ to 2½c, oats ⅝ to 1¼@1⅜c and provisions, 12½ to 40c.

Bears had nearly complete control of the wheat market thruout the session. The most acute weakness however, was shown in the last half of the day. This period was subsequent to the issuance of a comprehensive crop report by a leading expert who represented that a notable improvement had taken place of late in conditions in the eight principal winter wheat states. Another well known authority went on record also with surmises that the July 1st, condition percentage of spring wheat would indicate 50,000,000 bushels greater yield than was pointed to on June 1st.

Coarse grain weakened with wheat. Warmer temperatures in the corn belt brought about larger offerings from the country and more than offset the influence of a Liverpool upturn due to prospects of a removal of taxation of the alcohol industry in Argentina. In the oats market rust reports from Nebraska and Illinois attracted attention, but were ineffective to stop declines. Lower prices on hogs left provisions without support. Recent buyers of futures were the largest sellers.

FRESH OUTBURST OF LIQUIDATION

Unsettlement Regarding Mexico Affords Excuse for Decline—General News in Most Respects Encouraging.

New York, June 23.—Unsettlement virging at times on demoralization overtook today's market developments in the situation with Mexico, affording an excuse, if not an actual reason for a fresh outburst of liquidation. The decline gathered additional impetus from the extensive operations of a confident saort interest which engaged in a succession of drives against the weaker specialties. Chief among these were Tennessee Copper which opened with a decline of 5¼ points on overnight announcement of the suspension of the dividend, subsequently extending its loss to 8¼ points; United States Industrial Alcohol which broke 12 or a total of 19 points in two days; shipping shares, which were lower by 4 to 5; motors 2 to 3 and the more active metals, zinc issues excepted, 1 to 3. In the final hour however, rallies to which short coverings contributed, effected a partial readjustment, alcohol for instance regaining almost half its loss.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 725,000 shares.

General news in its broader application to market values was in most respects encouraging.

Bonds were irregular to heavy with a sale of Mexican government 5s at 45, a 15 point decline from the previous offering last February. Total sales of bonds par value, $2,830,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Baking Helps

Learn to Regulate the Heat of Your Oven

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and keep an even surface. Have your oven moderate at first, until the cake is fully rizen; then increase the heat, so as to brown it over quickly. Extreme heat stiffens the dough. If you stiffen the outside of the cake before the rising is complete, you stop the rising process. Then the leavening gas, forming inside, will bulge up the center, where the dough is still soft, and spoil the shape of the cake. 38

NOTE—Biscuits or other pastries made from stiff dough, that are cut into shapes for the oven, bake in a hot oven. This is because the cut surfaces of the dough do not seal over, but rather leave the pores open, allowing the leavening gas to escape and the heat to penetrate readily. Small ovens cool quickly; therefore they should be made several degrees hotter than a larger oven, and the less the door is opened the better. Do not attempt to bake bread and pastry together. Bread requires prolonged, moderate baking—pastry the reverse.

Have a strong underheat for baking powder preparations, especially pastry.

These are only a few of the many baking helps found in the K C Cook's Book—a copy of which may be secured by sending the colored certificate taken from a 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago.

COULD NOT WALK

And For Four Years, Could Not Stand Without Support.

Chillicothe, Ohio—"Nothing pleases me more than to speak a word of praise for Cardui, the woman's tonic," says Mrs. Ed Davis, of this town, "for I firmly believe that it snatched me from the grave.

I have been married 14 years, and had two children. After the youngest was born, I was not able to walk, and for four years, I was not strong enough to stand on my feet five minutes at the time, without something to support me.

Nothing seemed to do me any good, until, finally, I commenced using Cardui, the woman's tonic. I only used about four bottles, but, today I am well, can do my work, and walk as far as I want to.

I can never praise Cardui enough, and my neighbors cannot get done wondering at the change in me."

You, too, can depend on Cardui, because Cardui is a gentle, harmless, vegetable tonic, that can do you nothing but good.

Prepared from vegetable herbs, Cardui has a specific effect on the womanly constitution, and puts strength where it is needed.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Lebanon, Pa. — How an aged Frenchwoman, hungering for affection to assuage the deaths of her husband and two sons, adopted a man, only to disherit the foster son when he joined the German army—is the remarkable "war story" beneath the contest against the will of Rosalie Parent Coleman instituted by Dr. Guido Tauern Hinkel, involving an estate of $1,000,000 and scheduled to come into the court in this county next month. The foster son charges undue influence on the part of the new heirs, who so played on the patriotism of the aged woman, who was intensely devoted to her native France, as to cause her to forget her natural love for her adopted son and leave him penniless. The Coleman family has been for generations the leader in the iron industry here, having amassed vast wealth in the Cornwall ore mines, a few miles south of Mount Lebanon. Robert Coleman, a member of the family, expatriated himself, going to Paris, where he married Melle, Rosalie Parest and remained till his death. Two sons were born, and it was after the death of these and of her husband that Mme. Coleman adopted Hinkel and made him her sole heir is her original will. The young man, who is now 31 years old, was born in New York of German parents and became a physician in Paris. He attended Mme. Coleman during an illness and so won her regard and affection that she turned to him as a successor to her dead sons. He is said to have attained a skkill in surgery which nas already brought him to the attention of great men of the profession in France and Germany. When the war broke out, he felt that his services belonged to the country of his forbears, and in spite of his foster mother's pleadisgs and indignation he enlisted with the enemy of her country.

New York—Mary Garden, the operatic star, is the latest great celebrity of the "regular" stage to succumb tothe lure of the movies. Miss Garden, now on her way to France, where she will continue her activities for wounded soldiers with the Red Cross, has signed with a movie magnate to spend several months each year for the next five years at his company's studio in California acting her famous operatic roles before the camera, as does that other scintillating light of the operatic firmament, Geraldine Farrar. She will return to America next December and after her season at the Chicago Grand Opera, of which she is a member, will go to California to create the motion picture role of "Thais", one of her most successful operatic parts.

Paris—Madame Rejane, the celebrated actress, is soon to become mamma-in-law to a young American physician, Dr. P. D. Wilson, of New York, whois shortly to wed Mlle. E. Porel, her daughter. The romance between the young Frenchwoman and her American fiance began a year ago in a field hospital at the front, where she served as a nurse and he as a surgeon. Consent to the match was given by Madame Rejane after a visit of her daughter accompanied by Dr. Wilson's mother, who will attend the wedding in this city. After the wedding the young couple will return to their duties with the French Red Cross.

Boston—Having no more fields to conquer Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the famous Norwegian tennis player, has returned to literature. A local publishing house announces a book from her pen, "Tennis for Women", in which she generously tells the legions of tennis players she has beaten the secret of how she did it.

New York—Miss Katherine Minahan, the actress, is the originator of a new association to be known as the National Bird Sanctuary Associates, with the idea of establishing sanctuaries for birds along the Lincoln Highway, and planning later to give a series of productions of Percy Mackaye's "Sanctuary", a bird masque which is a plea for the protection of our national bird life along the route of the transcontinental road. Miss Minahan, widely known as the Belasco Bird Girl, has made a deep study of birds and her studies have led her to become interested in their conservation. S. S. S. IS PURELY VEGETABLE---NATURE'S BLOOD TREATMENT

Scientists have discovered that the forest and the field are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy for practically every ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man are better than strong mineral mixtures. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health. S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case write to Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

MANCHESTER.

Mrs. Angie Wilson visited in White Hall the first of the week.

The two little Misses Vaniter of Chapin are here for av isit with their aunt, Mrs. F. F. Clark.

It is reported that 2 1-2 inches of rain fell here on Tuesday afternoon. In some sections of the town there was more water collected than at any other time in the memory of older people. No damage was done here but 3 miles west of town on the F. F. Clark place some little damage was done to some buildings which were unroofed.

Mrs. E. G. Saye and son Edwin Andras returned to their home in Jacksonville Wednesday.

Mrs. Martha Story returned Wednesday with her son, Dr. H. L. Story from whom she has been ntaking treatment. She has improved some in health.

Miss Hannah Atkinson of Murrayville was here calling on friends Wednesday. Miss Atkinson has recently returned from a three months visit in North Dakota with her niece.

A. C. Barnes was in Jacksonville Wednesday.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. for Mrs. Fred McPherson by Elder Mark White of M. E. church, assisted by W. S. Clark. Singing was furnished by Messrs. E. L. Maine, M. W. Story; Mesdames J. H. Langdon and C. D. Chapman, with Miss Mabel Blevins, pianist.

Mrs. Vansickle of Roodhouse sang a solo: "Some Day Some Happy Day."

The services were largely attended—some thirty or forty friends of deceased coming from Roodhouse, Mrs. McPherson's former home, to be present. Members of O. E. S. lodge attended the services in a body. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful.

Burial was made in McPherson lot in new cemetery.

Elder Mark White and wife are visiting in Baylis. Mr. White was called home to conduct the funeral of Mrs. McPherson.

David J. Cooper received a message late Wednesday afternoon from Versailles, Ill., telling of the death of his mother.

The Misses Forester of Drake, Ill., are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. N. J. Rochester and family.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Fell Beneath Train on Way to Enlist—Floyd Scott, a young man of Griggsville, recently fell from a freight train and cut off several fingers from one hand. He had just gone abroad the freight to go to Harnibal and enlist in a Missouri company for the Mexican war when the accident happened.

Carrollton Wants Lower Electricity Rates—People in Carrollton are complaining because the Central Illinois Public Service company has not reduced the rates charged for electricity to the same figure given to Jerseyville patrons by the company. The statement of the company some time ago was that Carrollton would be accorded the same rates charged in Jerseyville when the utilites commission finding was made for Jerseyville. Subsequently the Jerseyville case was compromised.

The Jerseyville rates, according to the agreement, are 12 cents for the first 15 kilowatts, 10 cents for the next 25, 8 cents for the next 60, 6 cents for the next 300 and 5 cents for all over 400. The Carrollton maximum price is 14 cents and the papers there are claiming that the public service company should immediately make refund.

Child Rescued from Thirty foot Well—The little child of Mr. and Mrs. James Goldman, living in the neighborhood of Florence, Pike county, had a narrow escape recently. The child, according to the story in the Pike County Times, fell into an old well thirty feet deep. The mother heard the platform give way but could not render assistance. When she tried to telephone to a neighbor the connection did not work and she ran nearly a quarter of mile to secure assistance. Mrs. Oscar Daniels and her small son hurried to the Goldman farm and the little boy was sent down the well on a ladder hastily constructed from ropes. Fortunately there was only about a foot of water in the well and the boy, who was too small to carry the three year old child, assisted him in climbing up the rope ladder, and an hour after the rescued child was playing about the yard as if nothing had happened.

TOOK EXAMINATIONS.

The state is asking for examinations in poultry management and from this city the veteran poultry judge, D. T. Heimlich and G. W. Casterline employed at the Hatfield poultry house on South Mauvaisterre street, took the examination and both made good marks. Just what the state will do with the ones who make the best marks Mr. Casterline says he doesn't know but it may be greater attention will be paid to chicken farming at the state institutions and the successful candidates will be placed in charge.

REPORT THE ROADS GOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gay and daughter Jeane, Mrs. George S. Gay and Mrs. W. L. Fay left yesterday morning in Mr. Gay's Paige car for Chicago and northern points. Word received from the party at Lincoln reports that the roads are fine and no mud encountered to that point.

MURRAYVILLE FARMERS PURCHASE HARRY CADE & CO. ELEVATOR

Negotiations, in Progress for Several Days, Result in Sale of Property for $2,000.

The Murrayville Farmers' Elevator Co. have purchased the building of Harry Cade and Co., and expect to have the property in operation by the beginning of wheat harvest. For several days the deal has been in prospect and Friday, announcemnt was made that the sale had been made for $2,000. On the organization of the farmers' company several months ago, there was some plan of building. As Beggs and Lewis have also an elevator in Murrayville the opinion prevailed that a third building would be at unnecessary disadvantage and the movement to purchase the Harry Cade property was get on foot.

Thomas Langdon is the president of the company and S. A. Bracewell is secretary.

Added to the general teaching force and not assigned, Edith Johnson.

The matter of the departments of art, music, hygiene, or nurse, manual training and truant officer was referred to a special committee to investigate and report.

Principals were appointed in the various wards, each one to teach a room full time, and perform the duties of principal before and after school hours. The appointments were:

Jefferson school—Clara C. Cobb.
Lafayette school—Agnes L. Paxton.
Franklin School—Agnes Lusk.
Washington school—Mrs. Edith Pyatt Dunlap.
Morton school — Elizabeth Higler.
Teacher of Independence school—Miss Marie Mayer.

The school hours were fixed at five and a half per day subject to modification in the discretion of the superintendent. This may pertain to the lower grades which may not have as long hours as the higher.

Appointment of janitors was first considered and the following made:
Jefferson school—Newton Angel.
Lafayette school — Joseph DeFrates.
Franklin school—Samuel Angelo.
Washington school—Ellis Moore.
Morton school—David Tinsley.
Indepnedence school — Thomas Fisk.
David Prince school—A. G. Fernandes.

The matter of employing an expert at an annual salary to have oversight of everything, especially the heating apparatus, was discussed at some length and finally that and the matter of the janitors of the high school building was referred to the building and grounds committee to investigate and report.

The building and grounds committee presented an exhaustive report of their inspection of the school property. Nothing of a serious nature was discovered tho numerous minor matters needed attention and the committee was instructed to go ahead and have necessary work done.

Complaint of annoying conduct of unruly parties in some of the school house premises had been made and them atter was referred to the president of the board with power to act.

The board of education held a lengthy session and the keynote of the meeting was the best welfare of the schools consistent with the condition of the treasury. Everything passed off with refreshing harmony and good feeling and the action was unanimous. The main thing was the appointment of teachers tho salaries could not be named until the report of the finance committe which it is hoped will be ready at the next regular meeting July 3.

The board met with all members present, President J. P. Lippincott in the chair.

A report of the state fire marshall who had inspected the buildings was read. He made no severe criticisms tho suggested a number of minor matters demanding attention and his recommendations were referred to the buildings and grousds committee with power to act.

Superintendent Perrin read a letter from C. W. Callahan accepting the principalship of the high school at $1600 annual salary.

A communication from the union parent-teachers' association was read urging the retention of the public nurse and offering to aid in the payment of her salary if necessary. A similar communication from the woman's club was read. This body also signified a willingness to aid in the payment of the salary of such an official if need be. Both communications were recived and placed on file and the matter subsequently had attention.

Mrs. Brockman presented a communication from Miss Anna Brown, manual training teacher, stating that her report had been sent Supt. Collins and he had not made it public and had not given it to the board of education. She told about the work in the various wards of the city and said much had been done in various ways in the work and she promised cooperation with the board.

The board then went into executive committee of the whole to hear the recommendation of the superintendent regarding teachers and to discuss all matters pertaining to the welfare of the schools. The great point was to arrange the force with reference to the conditions of the treasury and with an eye constantly to the good of the schools.

Supt. Perrin said he had carefully gone over the matter and had found that 23 teachers had been employed and he thought the number could be reduced to eighteen. The matter of dispensable positions was also discussed and among these came art, music, band leader, assistant manual training teacher and truant officer. Member Rogerson explained the good work of Miss Brown and the advance in her salary from $75.00 a month to $144.00 and it was suggested that possibly a teacher at lower salary might be employed for the place. In all the names that had been omitted there was no personal bias whatever but only a desire to serve the best interests of the schools.

After discussing matters until after eleven the committee rose and the board proceeded to transact business. The action of the committee of the school was ratified and then appointments were is order and were made as noted above.

"BILLY" SUNDAY CLOSES GREAT REVIVAL AT KANSAS CITY

One of Most Successful in Long Series He Has Conducted—Rev. W. E. Spoonts One of Workers in "Follow Up" Campaign.

Bily Sunday has just closed a seven weeks meeting in Kansas city with one of the great successes of his whole life. In the follow up campaign now in progress Rev. W. E. Spoonts is one of the workers. The people in that great city have been stirred as never before. The whole total of the audience is 1,386,000 while 20,646 have "hit the trail" and it has been estimated that thousands have been converted who didn't come forward at the tabernacle meetings.

During his stay he preached 93 sermons and at the last one he admitted he was tired out but the enthusiasm was enough to keep him going till the last word had been said.

J. W. Perry, president of the Southeastern Bank of Commerce was one of the enthusiastic supporters of the meetings and said he meant to lead a better life hereafter. He would gladly lay down his office if he could do one tenth of the good Billy Sunday does. He said there was a gang in the city that had threatened to undo the work of Mr. Sunday but they would fail. He urged a good collection and as a token of love a certified check for $32,000 was handed Mr. Sunday as he left.

"Amen and goodbye," Mr. Sunday shouted the last night as he stood with one foot on a chair and the other on the desk at which he had been preaching for seven weeks. He thanked the people for that they had given him but said he would have loved them just the same if he had received no money. Men and women surged forward in a vain effort to shake his hand but it was of no use and escaping from them he plunged into his dressing room, the lights were out the tabernacle cleared and one of the most tremendous religious campaigns in the world was closed. Men of all classes joined heartily in the movement and a follow up campaign is now on.

DAVIES LAND WILL NOT BE SOLD TO PAY DEBTS

Agreement Among Attorneys Reached Friday and Rentals Will Be Applied on Estate Debts.

A settlement was reached Friday by attorneys interested in the Davies case whereby claims against the estate will be paid without the proceeds arising from a sale of a portion of the lands. Some time ago A. C. Rice as administrator of the estate obtained authority from the county court for the sale of eighty acres of the land on petition to sell real estate to pay debts. This land was advertised and the sale was to have been held today. Thru the agreement of attorneys interested certain funds now in the hands of the trustee, Felix E. Farrell, will be turned over to the administrator, Mr. Rice, to be used in the payment of debts. The debts amount to $5,000 or $6,000 and the administrator has on hand about $1,000.

The trustee has control of a fund which has accumulated from rentals of the land and other rents due for 1915 and not yet paid. The total sum when paid over to Mr. Rice may not be large enough to fully discharge all of the debts, but the understanding is that any deficiency will be made good from rentals to be paid in the future. The attorneys interested seem to have held the view that to sell an eighty acres of the farm lands would work injury to their several clients, as the whole tract of Morgan county land would probably sell at a higher figure per acre than the eighty acres alone.

The Davies estate includes 512 acres of Morgan county land and a conservative estimate places the value of this land at $175 an acre. The estate includes also a quarter section of land in the state of Washington which has never been accounted as worth much when figures as to the value of the estate were made. Altho a daughter of Mr. Davies is living on the Washington farm, the land is said ont to be productive It was originally timber land, but the trees have been cut down and the farm will not be available for agricultural purposes to any extent until the stumps have been removed.

The Orear-Bocking Case.

The jury which heard the evidence in the suit of Miss Nettie Orear against William Bocking brought in a verdict late Friday afternoon in favor of Miss Orear and fixing the amount due as $810. The amount claimed by Miss Orear in bringing suit was $1500.

Donation of $200 by County Commissioners Brings Total Above $500 Mark—Other Scott County News.

Winchester, Ill., June 23.—The donation of $200 toward the fund for a town clock, made by the Scott county commissioners at the Wednesday session, brings the total above the five hundred dollar mark and leaves but three hundred dollars as the amonut to be raised. A number of Winchester people have done good work for the fund during the past winter, when several successful entertainments were staged, and there seems no reason to doubt the prediction, that, before another Christmas rolls around, "the clock will be striking."

EXPRESS STRIKE SETTLED.

Local agents of the express companies have received information that the Chicago express drivers' strike has been settled. The strike has been going on there for about six weeks and originated not over wages but recognition of union. The terms of the settlement have not been made public but the agreement, while it included some compromise features, is said to have been a victory for the companies. Practically all of the old employes have been taken back but the companies did not give places to those men they considered agitators and largely responsible for the troubles of the past weeks.

LETTER TO GOVERNOR SUGGESTS MOBILIZATION HERE

Old Fair Grounds and School for Deaf Would Provide Ample Facilities.

The general feeling thruout the state is that the Fifth and Sixth infantry of the Illinois National Guard have not been called to Springfield on account of the limited amount of accommodations there. The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerec has found a way to do away with that objection so far as the mobilization is concerned. Yesterday that organization sent to Governor Dunne a letter suggesting the mobilization of the two regiments at the State School for the Deaf in this city. They told of the excellent facilities here, and that the citizens of Jacksonville would be very glad to welcome the "soldier boys" to the city.

The following is a copy of the letter sent to the Governor yesterday:

The Letter.

"Hon. E. F. Dunne, Governor,
"Springfield, Ill.

"Dear Sir:

"The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce invites the mobilization of a part of the state troops in Jacksonville and respectfully calls your attention to the advantages of a camp on the state grounds here.

"The railroad accommodations furnish a direct line to St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago and Buffalo. Sufficient house tracks are available for necessary troop trains.

"The site known as the "Old Fair Grounds" just west of the School for the Deaf is ideally located as regarding drainage and sanitary condition, has a street car line running into it. It is connected with the pavements by a cinder road that does not get muddy.

"As you know, the School for the Deaf with ample facilities for caring for several hundred men is unoccupied for the next three months — no doubt arrangements can be made for the use of the necessary buildings.

"Our wholesale bakery, groceries, packing companies and feed houses are wholly adequate to handle the food and feed question.

"Several good wells are available and in addition clear hard water can be had in abundance and can be piped to any point on the grounds.

"The electric light can be arranged for on short notice.

"We are informed that at present the accommodations at Springfield are ample, but in event of the call of the Fifth and Sixth regiments and crowded conditions in Springfield, we respectfully call your attention to the advantages in Jacksonville and request you to use your influence in having the state grounds here used for mobilization.

"Very truly yours,
"Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce
"J. J. Reeve, President.
"H. J. Rodgers, Secretary."

Message from Col. Wood.

Thursday evening Capt. L. P. Owen sent a message to Col. F. Wood telling him of the slowness of the recruiting here. Friday afternoon he received the following message in reply:

"Many manifest professed love and respect for the flag and what it represents by displaying it and carrying it on patriotic occasions. It was rifle carriers and gunners who made possible what the flag means to us today, not flag flaunters—this is my message to Jacksonville."

JURY RETURNED VERDICT IN POPPLEWELL DEATH CASE

Plain Case of Suicide The Verdict Shows—No Word Received From Dead Man's Friends.

The coroner's jury empanelled to inquire into the death of C. M. Popplewell who was killed by a freight train on the C. P. & St. L. railroad Thursday afternoon returned the following verdict.

"We the undersigned jury sworn to inquire of the death of C. M. Popplewell on oath do find that he came to his death by being struck by local freight No. 28 on the C. P. & Ct. L. railroad about 1,000 feet north of Oak street, north of the city of Jacksonville, Ill., about 1:35 o'clock Thursday, June 23, 1916. We further find that death was the result of an attempt to commit suicide by said C. M. Popplewell and that no blame attaches to any one in the case."

M. H. Carroll, Foreman.
D. J. McCarthy.
C. W. Sims.
Frank Bahan.
F. J. McGhee.
John W. Priest, Clerk.

The jury met at the Reynolds undertaking parlors at 11 o'clock Friday morning. Only three witnesses were examined, John Laurie for whom Popplewell had been working, G. W. Imgrund and G. R. Haigh.

According to the testimony of John Laurie, Popplewell had been working for him at odd times for several weeks. On Saturday he told the witness that he was going to quit and go back to Kentucky to see his children. He worked Monday and asked Mr. Laurie to pay him. Witness said he had told Popplewell that he had better stay as there was plenty of work. Witness said Popplewell had said he would not be much good as he was drinking. Witness said he had not heard of him since Monday until news came of his death.

The testimony of G. R. Haigh and George W. Imgrund mainly was of the finding of the body. Haigh was brakeman on the freight and Mr. Imgrund is general superintendent of the C. P. & St. L. shops.

From the nephews of the deceased who work for Mr. Laurie it was learned that Popplewell drank a great deal and did not get along very well with his family. He had not been living with his wife for a year or more. He had, before coming to Morgan county spent about ten months with a son in White Hall, Ill. This son goes by the name of Luther Abner and it was from Abner and his wife that the letters appealing for money, which were mentioned in Friday's Journal, had come. The Clode referred to in the letter found on Popplewell which indicated a resolve to suicide, is a daughter of Mrs. Popplewell and lives with her.

No word has been received from the telegrams sent by Coroner Wright to relatives in Jamestown, Ky., and also to Judge A. M. F. Hill of that place. Funeral services will be held from Reynolds undertaking parlors this morning and interment will be made in Jacksonville cemetery.
